GET THEM MOVING AT MEALTIME

Cats love to display natural predatory behaviours like stalking, chasing, and using their paws and mouth to get food. Food dispensing toys or puzzle feeders are a great way to make meal time more active and fun. Try it out, your cat may enjoy their food even more. To help you get started, here's a little inspiration for out pet lover and their cat

Cats are intelligent and persistent problem solvers, and their curiosity is legendary. Besides physical exercise they require mental exercise too. A puzzle feeder harnesses their desire for tasty food with their natural inclination to experiment and play, to probe and push and pull to reach semi-hidden kibbles that they can smell but not necessarily see. Cats are individualistic and vary a lot in their intelligence, dexterity, and persistence. With basic ingredients such as cardboard tubes and boxes, you can tailor a puzzle feeder to the peculiar skill level of your cat. What challenges will engage your cat's mind?
